To fly.. Sort Code: 40-25-31 A/C No: 12604043 Add your name as the Reference
(other than someone else's aircraft under their direct supervision on a buddy box e.g. a club trainer)

... you MUST also have...

Current Full BMFA membership (Senior rate) £51
- which includes 3rd party insurance

CAA Operator Registration (until April 2026) £11.79
- CAA registration requires the completion of a simple online competency test.

BMFA membership & CAA registration is available through the BMFA website at www.bmfa.org.

We also suggest you agree to the BMFA's 'Article 16 Authorisation'.

Members must always be correctly insured to fly at WRMC.

BMFA insurance is only valid if you are correctly registered with the CAA.

Please ensure our secretary has your BMFA membership number and that you identify WRMC as one of your clubs on the BMFA portal.

In the case of an individual who is flying another persons or a club owned plane they may operate with a flyer ID which is available by taking the online test on the CAA site at no charge. However as soon as you wish to fly your own aircraft you will need to retake the online test but register as an operator. Paying the fee then gets your operators number, which must be displayed on every model you fly. BMFA membership can be arranged over the phone or by post but CAA operator registration must be done online through the BMFA website or can be done directly on the CAA website.

At the field have your WRMC club card, BMFA Certificate, Proof of CAA registration & a copy of the Article 16 authorisation to hand on paper or electronically just in case it is asked for by any appropriate authority.
